

In response to these persistent breaches, Iran has officially suspended its obligations under the Memorandum to safeguard its sovereignty and national security.

The Islamic Republic of Iran holds the United States solely responsible for the collapse of the MoU. This latest violation underscores a continuous pattern of bad faith, disregard for international law, and failure to honor negotiated commitments. Such conduct erodes confidence in diplomacy while threatening peace and stability in the Persian Gulf and the wider West Asian region.

The Islamic Republic of Iran emphasizes that U.S. President Donald Trump and his administration will never succeed in imposing their demands upon the Iranian nation. They must be held accountable under international law and brought before competent international judicial bodies for the killing of innocent civilians, the assassination of the Iranian Supreme Leader, the destruction of civilian infrastructure, crimes committed against students, the escalation of insecurity in the Strait of Hormuz, and numerous other violations of international law.
